"There are obviously two educations. One should teach us how to make a living and the other how to live."

JAMES ADAMS

Yes, there are two types of education and the person to whom this annual is dedicated strives to teach us two big lessons: how to use our minds to the best of our ability, and how to live using our full potentiality.

All during the year she has been present with a cheering word, a helping hand, and a lesson through her own cheerfulness and cooperation. Teaching us to laugh in spite of mistakes and setbacks, she guided us skillfully through each big occasion in our Senior life.

And so we dedicate this annual as a silhouette of love and gratitude to our Senior Class Sponsor, Miss Ruth Krouskup.

SENIOR CLASS

The Seniors share many pleasant memories of this past year at Salem. They planned Senior Day for October 29 and on that day were doubly recognized, for they received their Senior rings.

Later in the year they held their Bazaar and sold Moravian cookies to make money for their gift, which now hangs in the Mary A. Weaver Wing.

"Our ideal, whatever it may be, lies further on."

— GILLETT

Class Officers: Jane Wilsey, Secretary; Rosy Roth, Vice-President; Betty Shannon, President; Jane Drennon, Treasurer.

BETTY SHANNON
President of Senior Class

A friend may be well reckoned the masterpiece of nature. — Emerson

The Seniors and their sponsor, Miss Krouskup, near the closing of the year, entertained the faculty at a breakfast. The last project of the Seniors was planning Class Day, which was presented on the day of graduation. With all this accomplished, the Seniors will leave Salem with a year never to be forgotten.

The Juniors this year, like all other Juniors, spent their year collecting money. Will they ever forget the tarts on Saturday or the coffee and doughnuts on Sunday morning? Among other projects they sold Tipons and Christmas cards and sponsored the Junior Auction. With the help of Miss Rose, the sponsor, the Juniors reached their goal, the Junior-Senior, which will long be remembered.

After months of conscientious work the sophomores presented the annual tea dance in honor of the Senior class during Junior-Senior week-end. Here the Senior beauty queen and the two runners-up were announced, and upon the queen was bestowed a bouquet of red roses.

Aided by their advisor, Mrs. Maurice, who kept the sophomore affairs going well, they provided entertainment for their classmates with Saturday night movies, enthusiastically attended by all.

The original skit the sophomores put on proved that they could complete a job successfully by hard work and cooperation.

This year the Freshmen proved that the Russians are not the only ones who can launch a Sputnik when they rocketed each Salemite through space with jet-propelled tickets to the Freshman Carnival. From an interplanetary horror show to the Mr. Space Man contest (alias Salem beau) the carnival was complete with "rocket dogs" and "flying-pizza-saucers."

Between their outer space and their flag-raising duties, the Freshmen have completed a very successful year.

Student Council

Although every Salem girl's duty is to uphold the rules and regulations of her school, a student council is provided to guide us by helping us to become better citizens. The Student Council is composed of the Student Body President, the Honor Council President, a representative from each of the six halls, and one day student. The Council meets once a week to discuss the rising problems of dormitory life, make new rules, and discard old ones.

"What government is the best? That which teaches us to govern ourselves."

SUZANNE PORTER
Student Body President

Student Council: Scott Rodwell, Connie Burroughs, Martha Kendrick, Julia Miley, Cason Lineberger, Linda Broyhill, Sandra Bullard, Suzanne Porter, Lele Follin, Martha Hubbard, Janet Paulin.

SANDRA BULLARD
President of the Honor Council

The backbone of the academic honor system at Salem is the Honor Council. The Council is both a judicial and exemplary group, intended chiefly to instill in each girl a realization of the importance of the Honor Code.

It consists of two seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, one freshman, and the president of the student body.

"See that you come not to woo honor, but to wed it."

Honor Council

Mary Marshall, Aileen Samford, Suzanne Porter, Cathy Byrd, Jeanie Rogers, Sandra Bullard, Sarah Clark, Gray Preston.

QUILL

The time between the announcement of the members of the staff in the fall and the day when we proudly presented this, your Quill Pen of 1958, has been amply filled with heartache and happiness, with pride and despair. But there is no regret, for with this came the slow and careful development of your annual, filled with our ideas and hopeful dreams.

One couldn't carry on life comfortably without a little blindness to the fact that everything has been said better than we can put it ourselves.

LUCILLE BENTON
Business Manager

The Advertising Staff has that combination of invention and resolve that must stand behind every annual. The good natured hounding we have each received this year from Lucille Benton, the business manager, can be appreciated today as you hold in your hand the fruits of her labor.

Spiritual Steering Wheel

"A little philosophy inclineth Man's mind toward atheism, but depth in philosophy bringests Man's mind about to religion."

One can see a group of pajama-clad girls gathering into a room after light bell. They are going to nightly devotions, an activity sponsored by the Spiritual Steering Wheel, Salem's religious society.

The S.S.W. is one of our most active organizations. Vespers on Sunday evenings; Friday morning talks; Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter programs; that very important "get-acquainted" party the first night of school; morning devotions during exams; and Senior vespers at graduation are some of the annual activities. The most important event is "Religious Emphasis Week." During this time a prominent speaker delivers his message each morning and holds informal talks with the girls throughout the day. Our speaker this year was Rev. Addison Hosea of Versailles, Ky.

The purpose of the S.S.W. is to instill in girls the faith and strength which are so necessary for the future.

Scribblers' Club

"The man is only half himself, the other half is his expression."

Paper, pen, ink, and a vivid imagination! This is the Scribblers' Club, where all amateur authors tend to gather.

Pencil Shavings, our summer publication, is sent out to welcome new students and to give old ones a bit of the latest news.

Stories, poems, essays, and more find themselves on the printed page during several editions of the Omnibus, our school paper. This year the Scribblers' Club is sponsored by Mrs. Davis, who has readily offered us her help and advice on all our literary problems — some great, some small, but all important in the Scribblers' Club.

Dramatics Club

"Speak the speech, I pray you, trippingly on the tongue."

As the curtains open and gleaming lights reflect the calm portrayals of the actresses (for of such is the Dramatics Club of Salem composed), little is disclosed of the frantic, last-minute directions which still vibrate in their ears, combined with the tingling thrill of bringing to life another character.

Nothing, however, equals the warming glow of a job well done as the thunderous applause calls the Salem actresses back for that long-awaited curtain call. The final fall of that necessary stage apparatus sends a warm tingling down the spine of each spectator, as he sees the lights blink off and leave in darkness the stage, on which the fruits of earnest strivings were revealed and realized within the glow of that one grand presentation.

Glee Club

"Music hath power to soothe the savage breast, to soften rocks, or bend a knotted oak."

Echoes of Salemites' voices swell the social room; all types of voices both trained and untrained harmonize together to make up the '57-'58 glee club.

This year the annual Christmas pageant proved a success, while caroling at Adelaide's church filled the hearts of all participants with that "old Christmas spirit." The double sextette added a beautiful touch to long remembered senior vespers.

With spring came "Martha," an operetta given by the glee club and directed by Mr. Paul Peterson, who has ably instructed the girls with their undertakings of the year. Music may have only echoes but the glee club leaves a silhouette of enjoyment in each girl's memory.

Committee Chairmen

At the beginning of each year each girl chooses the one of the six committees of which she would like to be a member. Her choice is made from the Good Will Committee, the Standards Committee, the Community and World Service Committee, the Social Committee, the Program Committee, and the Service Committee.

It is the duty of each committee chairman to lead her group in the right direction, planning, organizing, and carrying out each activity to the best of her ability. To the committee chairmen goes the responsibility of keeping the napkin rings on the correct tables, of getting the assignment slips to the infirmary, and all the many other necessary, but sometimes tedious, jobs at Salem.

Committee Chairmen: Marguerite Hines, Barbara Blackwelder, Bonnie Goldston, Wendy Vereen, Amy Lou Phillips, Susan McClaugherty.

Dance Committee

Dance Committee: (clockwise) Ross Johnson, Betty Copeland, Martha Moore, Anna Transou (chairman), Linda Albright, Kay Kearns, Jeanie Rogers, Jean Hamrick.

Music, decorations, fun — the long to be remembered events at Salem Academy are the dances.

This would not be true if it were not for the hard work and enthusiasm put forth by the dance committee. Theirs, the task of planning, is not an easy one, yet each dance seems better than the last. To the members of the dance committee, for their hard work and their inexhaustable supply of originality, go our heartfelt thanks.

One of the largest organizations at Salem is the Junior Red Cross. This group, to which nearly every Salemite belongs, functions under the efficient leadership of its sponsor, Mrs. Kappes, and the council, chosen by the members at the beginning of the school year.

Throughout the year the girls participate in the various Junior Red Cross Activities of the Winston-Salem area. The girls have found this service not only satisfying and worthwhile but a lot of fun.

Honor Graduates

This year our highest academic honor has been awarded to Suzanne Porter of Hillsville, Virginia and Carolyn Bond of Aiken, South Carolina. This honor is earned by the two seniors with the highest scholastic averages. These two girls have put forth the hard and diligent work leading toward this goal, the achievement of Honor Graduate.

"Nothing is at last sacred but the integrity of your mind."

Commencement Marshals

The Commencement Marshals, chosen by the Senior Class to serve at Graduation, represent seven of the more outstanding underclassmen. This year they are: Susan Hardwick, Aileen Samford, Cason Lineberger, Valerie McLanahan, Accompanist; Mary Marshall, Monnie Gay, Branchie Watson, Chief Marshal; Bonnie Horner.

athletic Association

Andrea Tyree, head of Purples; Rena Clark, head of Golds.

There must be some reason for classmates, hallmates, even roommates to attack each other with a certain friendly, but momentarily hostile, gleam in their eyes. At Salem we blame this purely sportsman's phenomenon on two colors — we need not even like the colors — indeed, one sometimes feels that one fights all the harder for a somewhat disagreeable color just to prove that some good can come of the whole affair.

Athletic Council: Rosy Roth, Anne Marshall, Andrea Tyree, Rena Clark, Wendy Vereen, Sally Drake, Miss Rose, Gray Preston, Mary Cochran, Helen Rhea Goodykoontz.

To organize the rout that can come of excessive patriotism one Purple and one Gold are selected to lead their respective teams and a council is chosen to take charge of the various sports.

Growing Up With Opportunity

While you've been growing up and "getting educated", opportunity has been growing, too. All around you, industry and business have multiplied Electrification has increased farm yield while cutting down on labor and risk

When you were sophomores, the Duke Power Company was beginning new plants to supply your power needs after graduation Now ample, low-priced power increases your job opportunity, and Piedmont resources are ready for your energy and ideas Good luck to you as you find your place in the Piedmont Carolinas

Dear Nina,

Well the ordeal (Class Day) is over and a success (No colored soaps, at least) Anyway, I utterly despise writing in people's annuals, but you are very persistant. (Anyway) I think that word is worn out. Mother is persistent too, so I'd better knock off.

Hope to see you

My dear Joel!

Hush ah sit - regarding your father's ordinary slack your father ah ash you - what more could I possibly do? You pack. Now ah while you are there other attainable heights? Are there other utmost in innocuous desuetude. This! is the utmost in innocuous idlea desuetude. Regardless of what missonstrued - This is the South! (smile when you have - This is the South! (smile when you might) And if you start disagreeing - I'll sit on you - say it!) And I'm bigger than you are! On more ways than one - you - and I'm a Salem A. gal. Now ah desk we are - the day before the History exam - We should be studying - but I'm brainwashed! Anywho - here's to many hours on your back at 30,000 feet and on the ground on the back of your house! (and we make more cigarettes than W. N. C. (and we does) slope in! If it looks a little odd you'll know part of you're exercising) I live there and I'm a Salem A. gal. Now ah ash you - Is that not an accomplishment?! I'll pour tea for you! Be good, no study hard at wherever you are - Must go to lunch!

Love -
